Dr. Hill spent fifty years in education, touching the lives of thousands and ultimately making the world a much better place. She began her career in 1971 as a teacher in the San Bernardino City Unified School District. Following this, she moved to the San Bernardino County Office of Education serving as Assistant Superintendent of Administrative Services. In 2011 Dr. Hill was elected to the Board of Education for the San Bernardino City Unified School District, serving the community until her passing. In addition to her work in the K-12 system, Dr. Hill also served as a professor at Cal State University, San Bernardino. Through her work there, she helped mold countless school administrators who serve our students today. Dr. Margaret Hill kept the needs of the student at the center of everything she did throughout her career.

In order to keep her memory alive and to inspire others, Region 12 has added the Dr. Margaret Hill Social Justice Award to honor a leader that has a passion for helping our students succeed that goes above and beyond the norm.
