The Teaching Well Part 2

Wellness, Somatic/Mindfulness Practices, Racial Trauma in the Context of Healing

"Balance your nervous system with multiple somatic/mindful practices woven throughout an engaging session mapping our stress cycles against the Human Function Curve. Learn to read your unique "body cues", "behavior cues", and "communication cues" such that you can engage in connected communication with colleagues and mindfully shift yourself/your nervous system back into homeostasis in the work environment. Additionally, you'll consider the ways in which implicit bias is perpetuated at higher rates by individuals who are stressed and burned out. At the Teaching Well, we believe that to be truly anti-racist, one must also center wellness."
