Tulare County Charter Features National Superintendent of the Year

Marc Johnson, Superintendent, Sanger Unified School District, was the keynote speaker at the Tulare County Charter ACSA Annual Spring Conference. This professional development event was conducted on March 31, 2011 at the International Agri-Center/Heritage Complex located outside the city of Tulare.

Approximately 200 county school administrators were in attendance to participate in the various conference activities.

Johnson was recently recognized as both the California and National Superintendent of the Year. He has been involved in public education for over 35 years.

His fast-moving presentation focused on: "Leading the Learning, Whose Job Is It?"

Johnson's opening remarks stressed, "We must keep the main thing, the main thing. That main thing is student learning."

"The Sanger Unified Journey on the road to improvement has been an interesting one! Named a Program Improvement District in 2004, the District began a process of system wide reform that included establishing Professional Learning Communities at all sites and developing robust systems of support and interventions to provide assistance to every learner driven by assessment data that measures progress on the path. Our conversation will provide an overview of that journey and the elements that have led to the District's dramatic gains in student achievement!"

He emphasized the importance of essential standards. "Choose and clarify 8-10 essential common outcomes, skills, per semester or course content," Johnson said. He shared a number of highlights which have helped to make Sanger's schools so successful. Some of these included Professional Learning Community, common formative assessments, the District's pyramids of intervention, explicit district instruction and loose-tight leadership model and reciprocal accountability.

"The only way to improve outcomes is to improve teaching," Johnson said.

Goals define our potential according to Johnson. He added that we must make a serious commitment to continuous improvement.

"Learning by doing is critical to success," Johnson said.

Johnson shared his District's three guiding principles:

Hope is not a strategy.

Don't blame the kids.

It is about student learning.

He closed his informative presentation by reminding the administrators that our job is to "keep the main thing the main thing."

Participants at this year's conference had the opportunity of attending two one-hour workshop sessions.

Elaine C. Cash, former superintendent, Riverdale Joint Unified School District, workshop focused on "Fierce Conversations."

Inspired by the book of with the same title, Elaine and the school community worked to establish a culture of authentic accounting instead of laying blame and making excuses.

Tulare County ACSA Building our Membership Proposal

General Expectations

1. Personal Contact:
2. Communication:
3. Bring People Together:

The Plan

1. Develop a team of Superintendents who will take on the task of communicating the importance of ACSA and its membership to all principals who are not currently ACSA members (perhaps via Jim Vidak's office). In addition, all Superintendents in Tulare County will submit names of principals who are not ACSA members to the designated grade span team leaders as well as the president of Tulare County ACSA (Joe Santos).

Renee Whitson, Exeter, Luis Castellanoz, Tulare City, and Craig Wheaton, VUSD

2. Develop a team of leaders for each grade level span (K-5, 6-8, 9-12). These individuals will initiate the development of a supportive learning community by making personal contact with various principals in Tulare County. They will calendar dates and times to bring grade span teams together throughout Tulare County, with our focus on non-ACSA members. They will also create agendas that bring structures, ideas, best practices, and feedback to all stakeholders (everyone leaves with something). Perhaps, if time permits, have lunch or even breakfast, creating a social opportunity to develop the relations.

- K-5 (Valerie Brown, TCSD and Mimi Bonds, VUSD)

- 6-8 (Heather Keran, EUSD and Gary Yentes, TCSD)

- 9-12 (Jeff Hohne, VUSD, Richard Smithey PUSD, and Fernie Marroquin, VUSD)
Once the initial collaborative/supportive sessions have taken place we then share the wealth by creating a rotational system where all get to visit, share, and learn from one another at each others campus.

3. Highlight additional benefits of ACSA once you have the connection "hook."

Comments from your Region XI Executive Director

"This is a great time to reach out and recruit new A.C.S.A. members. As our numbers increase, our power in Sacramento increases. Right now new members can join free until the end of the school year and then continue their membership for two dollars a day ($2.00 a day) with a payroll deduction."

David Tonini,
Region XI Executive Director

Non-A.C.S.A. members typically ask what can A.C.S.A. do for me. Perhaps a better question is how will my membership in A.C.S.A. help my students, staff and parents? As a member of A.C.S.A., you have a powerful voice in Sacramento, a more significant voice than you have individually. That voice is critical right now considering the decisions that the state legislators will be making that directly impact our students, staff and parents.

On March 13, approximately four hundred A.C.S.A. members participated in a rally on the capitol's steps and met with legislators as part of the A.C.S.A. sponsored Legislative Action Day. Seventeen members from our region participated. Frank discussions were had with our legislators that represent our region. Terri Ruffert, Region 11 Vice President for Legislative Action coordinated and facilitated our conversations with our legislators. Our message was affectively presented that voters must be given the right to vote on the tax extension, that deferrals are negatively impacting the work we need to do, and flexibility in allocating categorical funding is essential.

This is a great time to reach out and recruit new A.C.S.A. members. As our numbers increase, our power in Sacramento increases. Right now new members can join free until the end of the school year and then continue their membership for two dollars a day ($2.00 a day) with a payroll deduction. Recruiter's names will be put into a drawing for an IPAD.

Your professional organization continues to serve your students, staff, and parents, and you. Keep informed, consult your Region and State website for updates. Recruit new members and make A.C.S.A. a stronger voice for your students, staff, parents, and you.

Region XI Voices

Legislative Action Day, March 14, 2011, Sacramento

Terri Rufert
Region XI Vice President
Legislative Action

“I was very proud of Region XI administrators. They shared ACSA’s talking points with facts, figures and stories. It is obvious that the administrators there really care about the students, their staff, each other and respected the differing viewpoints of our congressional representatives. You were all well represented. I want to thank everyone who participated for their time and dedication.

It is important for education that our legislators find a way to work together and compromise to develop a balanced budget. I am sure we would all like to get off the funding roller coaster. Keep contacting your legislators. Be heard! I do believe we can make a difference.”

Cheryl McConaughy
Superintendent
Lamont School District

“On Monday, March 14, 2011 almost 400 superintendents and school leaders converged on Sacramento in the rain to urge state legislators to support the revenue extension in the Governor’s budget proposal.

At the close of the day, I believe that we learned some valuable lessons. To paraphrase Nelson Mandela, “Keep your friends close and your legislators closer.” It is very important that we follow the advice of our Legislative Action Representatives, and keep in contact with our elected representatives. Without our voices, they don’t understand the challenges that we are facing on a daily basis.”

Byron Johnson
Assistant Superintendent
Business & Operations
Muroc Joint Unified School District

“All of the legislators or their staffers were very gracious and welcoming as we related our concerns as schools and districts. This day was one where the dividing lines were very evident by the dialogue as to political parties and their stand on the ‘tax extension’.

I found David Valadao, Assemblyman 13th District, engaged as to where Sacramento can help school districts cut back bureaucratic red tape or regulations that have inundated districts.”

The second workshop session featured Dr. John M. Nelson III, Assistant Superintendent, and Deidre Romero, Principal, in the Chula Vista Elementary School District. These two leaders, at the district and school level, shared their stories of successful change initiatives.

Prior to the workshop presentations, administrators could view products and talk to vendors representing 16 different businesses. Hors d'oeuvres were also available in a relaxed conference atmosphere.

Frank Silveira, Principal, Exeter Union High School and Tulare County Charter ACSA Vice President, was this year's Conference Chairperson.

"The conference was great example of how ACSA helps administrators grow professionally so they can do a better job serving their students," David Tonini, Region XI Executive Director said.

Funds derived from the conference will go toward the Charter's annual high school scholarship program.
